November is upon us, which means it's time to get bombarded with Black Friday and Cyber Monday deals for the holidays. Naturally, this year holiday purchases will mostly take place online. Which is great news for those of us who tend to celebrate Thanksgiving with pleasure. Virtual Black Friday means no doorbuster deals, no early bird saving, no brownie points for being first in line at a local store's big drawer. And zero chance fisticuffs once the doors open. You may still have to get up early the day after Thanksgiving, but you'll be able to shop all the big deals without leaving your own couch. At this time of year, there is often little to offer motorists, except for the obvious entertainment of people struggling with teeth and nails for a blender. But there is one event car geeks will want to wake up early on Friday, November 27. Walmart's Black Friday tire event runs from November 7-13, and the bus deal is worth going crazy for. The best part is that you don't even need to withstand these wild crowds to get it. This massive tire sale offers $20 from each Goodyear bus and a free life balance service from Walmart Auto Care Centers. Online deals start at midnight on the 7th, but you can't take advantage of the in-store sale until it opens at 5 o'clock a.m. So not place your order online? Go to the reception and your new tires are installed and balanced while you shop for stockings. And yes, you need new tires. With winter about to come in full swing, throwing on a fresh set is the best way to keep yourself or your loved ones out of the ditch. Also, the tires these deals apply to are not something to just pass on. The Walmart Black Friday bus event starts at midnight (online only) on November 7 and runs until November 13. Save $20 per tire, and get free balancing for life on quality Goodyear tires like these. The retailer distribute the best savings of the season from one day to three events in November. BENTONVILLE, Ark., October 14, 2020 - Walmart announced last month that it is adapting to meet the changing needs of its customers this holiday season. The biggest and most exciting shopping day of the year - Black Friday - will be no exception. That's why today, Walmart announces an updated Black Friday savings event that will deliver the incredible prices customers expect from retailers in a whole new way to help provide a safer and more convenient shopping experience. Walmart will distribute its Black Friday savings this year from one day to three events to attract customers to Black Friday deals on days. This reinvented Black Friday experience will offer customers the retail's best Season on the most sought-after items on 2020 holiday wish lists for three separate savings events during November. Each savings event will start online online Walmart.com and continue in Walmart stores. And new this year, customers will be able to pick up their online Black Friday order through Walmart's contactless curbside pickup service. Customers trust Walmart to deliver an amazing Black Friday year after year. While this year's event looks different, our commitment to what our customers depend on us - the absolute best price of the season for hot gifts from leading brands - hasn't changed, Scott McCall, executive vice president and chief merchandising officer at Walmart USA, said. I am very pleased that this year, when it matters most to our customers, we offer them more convenient and safe ways to shop for Black Friday at Walmart, whether it's off the shelf at one of our stores, ordering online and picking it up on the side of the road or having it delivered right to their front door. During Walmart's Black Friday deals for event days, customers will find savings on new items from leading brands like HP, Instant Pot, LEGO, L.O.L. Surprise!, Roku and Shark, including deals on many items that can only be found at Walmart. We were very thoughtful as we planned this year's event. By distributing deals over several days and making our hottest deals available online, we expect the Black Friday experience in our stores to be safer and more manageable for our customers and our partners, McCall added. The health and safety of its customers and partners is Walmart's top priority. To provide a safer shopping experience, all Walmart stores will open at 5 a.m. local time on Black Friday in store event days. Customers will form a single direct line to enter the store. Partners will be handing out sanitized trolleys to customers to help with social distancing, and health ambassadors will be placed at the entrances to greet customers and remind them to put on a mask. During these activities at the Black Friday store, Walmart will meter customers to the store to help reduce congestion and promote social distance within stores. Customers will be sent to the store down the right side of the aisles to be able to easily - and safely - choose the Black Friday items they are interested in buying. Customers will find incredible savings at Walmart outside of its Black Friday deals for event days. In addition to its daily low prices, the retailer offers rollbacks on items across every department in stores and on Walmart.com all season, giving customers even more savings as they check items from their loved ones' wish lists.
